Oil on canvas painting by Newbold H. Trotter on display at the Harrisburg Museum depicting railroad transportation at Rockville Bridge, 1883. This two-track iron truss bridge was erected in 1877 to replace a single track wooden span from the late 1840s. In 1902, PRR replaced this bridge with the current stone arch viaduct that stands today— one of the longest such railroad bridges ever built. Photo provided by Brittany Baksa.

TOWNSHIP STILL RECOVERING FROM TROPICAL STORM DEBBY

In the early daylight hours of Friday, August 9, 2024, Tropical Storm Debby moved through Rye Township producing torrential downpours with reports of 6" to 8" of rain falling in a portion of the Township near the eastern boundary leaving debris, flooded roadways, downed trees, and damaged culverts. We thank the Road Crew for their help during and after the storm.

The culvert on Heisley Lane was substantially damaged and the roadway undermined. An emergency permit was approved by PA DEP, temporary repairs were made by the road crew, and the road was reopened restricted to "One Lane" traffic until the culvert replacement is engineered, the permit approved, and the project bid, with completion estimated to be sometime in the new year 2025. Please exercise caution when driving on Heisley Lane.

The picture on the right shows Bryson Hollow Run overtopping New Valley Road near Tower Road. Township engineer, Max Stoner, PE, is in the process of evaluating this culvert also for replacement.
